

EXISTENTIAL THREATS TO WESTERN CIVILIZATION

October 14, 2024

Circulated by Thorpe W. Watson

Western politicians are warning us that climate change is the greatest existential threat to humanity and that, in order to fight climate change, we must sacrifice our standard of living by banning or severely restricting our use of fossil fuels; that is, coal, oil, and natural gas. NOTHING COULD BE FURTHER FROM THE TRUTH!!!

In fact, the greatest existential threats to Western Civilization are the destructive government policies being implemented to combat an imaginary hobgoblin (CO2-induced climate change) while ignoring or downplaying real threats.

Such real threats include unsustainable government spending and debt, higher taxes, unbalanced budgets, inflation, unnecessary government regulations, lack of energy, open borders, federalization of provincial and state rights (e.g. public education), the indoctrination of our vulnerable youth with socially destructive ideological nonsense such as multiple genders, cruelly offering choice of gender to prepubescent and adolescent children in so-called learning and/or healthcare environments, drug-induced “sex change” and surgical removal of body parts despicably in the name of gender affirming care, our current political leadership abandoning our allies, while pandering to our sworn enemies, the replacement of personal character, merit, and qualifications with gender, skin colour, group identity, and heritage re: career appointments, promotions, and university acceptance, bloated government bureaucracies, and the globalists goals (i.e. a new world order promoted by the UN, the World Economic Forum, and the World Health Organization).

And we must not ignore the most obvious threat to the democratic system of government, election fraud. Serious election fraud is a reality when a voting system includes: massive mail-out of ballots, mail-in ballots, lack of signature verification, unsupervised ballot drop boxes, an inability to audit the ballot count, ballot curing, ballot harvesting, ballot messengers, programmable voting machines, lack of voter ID, votes cast by non-citizens, extended voting periods, the violation of State voting regulations, and a judicial system unwilling to challenge obvious fraud. What more could a dictator want?

If anyone still believes that the foregoing threats are not serious enough to collapse a great nation, we invite you listen to a 2003 speech given by former Colorado Governor, Richard Lamm (5 minutes).

I Have a Plan to Destroy America by Former Governor Richard Lamm, Democrat

Thanks Thorpe,

I recall listening to this particular podcast by Levin a few years ago. Pre-Trump? Hansen first published his book Mexifornia in 2003, the same year of this oration by Hamm. I am surprised that this is the first time I've heard it again since that time. It really puts current issues in their truthful perspective and it should be broadcast every day leading up to the US election in November, 2024 (less than a month away).

Note that Hamm called himself a LIBERAL Democrat. Is there even such a thing today? The only Democrats we hear from these days live (fester) far LEFT of liberal - kinda like where the empty heads of Hitler's Brown Shirts must have been a hundred years ago.

Mr. Levin and Mr. Hansen are gifts, not only to American society, but to all human beings who cherish their freedoms. But too many of us so ignorantly take these hard-won freedoms for granted. Maybe more of us might want to pay attention to what these two Americans have to tell us.

Thanks again for sharing,
